The next scheduled webinar is this
Thursday and includes new information.

Webinar: Dive Into the Closing Disclosure Form
Section-by-Section

Although the new Closing Disclosure has similarities to the forms it will replace, there are changes in both location and nomenclature for the closing fees. Whether you are inputting the numbers or the lender has taken on that role, you will still need to understand the new form in order to balance and disburse the funds. It's not too early to begin the learning process in order to assure your lender partners that you are ready and able to handle their transactions.

During this webinar you'll dive into the CFPB's Closing Disclosure Form, section-by-section. For more information/details, click here.

Updated from previous programs to include new information, the next scheduled dates/times are:

Thursday, May 21st
9 - 10 am, MDT
