

THE DEFINITIVE GUIDE TO ALTA ENDORSEMENTS

FOREWARD

The American Land Title Association (ALTA) promulgates standardized title insurance policies that provide basic coverages for many common title insurance needs. Additionally, ALTA also offers a list of endorsements for real estate transactions that require additional coverages other than those accounted for in the title insurance policy. Endorsements are used to expand, limit, or otherwise modify, the policy's standard coverages.

There is no one-size-fits all approach to endorsements. Some endorsements specifically apply to owners' policies, others are strictly suitable for loan policies, and some equally applicable to both. Likewise, there are endorsements that explicitly apply to each residential and commercial property transaction. This guide is designed to be a catalog and overview of the most commonly issued ALTA endorsement forms. It contains the text of each listed endorsement, as approved and adopted by ALTA.

Old Republic Title's ability to approve and issue an endorsement is contingent upon a review of all applicable local ordinances, state laws and governmental regulations. Accordingly, the availability of the forms contained in this guide may vary from state to state, and in certain circumstances, from city to city. Additionally, the underwriting procedures and guidelines for issuing an endorsement are generally determined by the specific conditions of the transaction. Some transactions may present special risks or circumstances that call for additional underwriting analysis. This guide should not be considered a commentary of the underwriting requirements used in association with issuing endorsements. It is best to contact your underwriter, on a case-by-case basis, for in-depth interpretations.

It is important to remember that endorsements are made as part of the title insurance policy, and therefore, subject to all of the terms and provisions of the policy and any prior endorsements.

Old Republic Title appreciates your interest and looks forward to the opportunity to provide solutions that meet your real estate needs. For questions or more information about this guide, or any of our products and services, please contact your local Old Republic Title representative.

STANDARD EXCEPTIONS FOR THE ALTA LOAN POLICY

(ONE-TO-FOUR FAMILY RESIDENTIAL)

Revised (10-16-08)

The ALTA Standard Exceptions are suggested for use in one-to-four family residences. The Standard Exceptions are intended to facilitate the electronic transmission of title insurance policies. The Standard Exceptions are also intended to promote a prompt and efficient review of the Schedule B Exceptions from Coverage by lenders.

The suggested ALTA Loan Policy Standard Exceptions relate to residential transactions and matters that are commonly excepted from coverage in Schedule B. A title company using the suggested Standard Exceptions will be able to expedite the lender's policy review. As lenders become familiar with their text or unique coding, the suggested Standard Exceptions will be readily distinguished from other exceptions peculiar to the title examined. The lender may be able to recognize Standard Exceptions by the text or by the suggested ALTA coding.

The Exception Topics (for example, ACCESS) are matters for which Standard Exceptions have been prepared.

The Exception Code (for example, ACCX01 under ACCESS) consists of:

1. A three-letter abbreviation referring to the topic of the Exception (for example, "ACC" in ACCX01, identifies the Topic of ACCESS).
2. A letter identifying the use of the suggested Standard provision (for example, "X" in ACCX01 identifies this provision as a Schedule B Exception). Companies may develop provisions for Schedule A or Requirements sections of the Policy or Commitment that are identified by a different letter. The ALTA has not prepared suggested provisions for Schedule A or Requirements.
3. A two-digit number identifying the particular exception relating to the topic (for example, "01" in ACCX01).

The Exception Headings (for example, "Complete Lack of a Right of Access" following the Exception Code ACCX01) identify the specific situation covered by the suggested Standard Exception. The Heading is not a part of the Exception.

The suggested Standard Exception appears immediately below the Exception heading (for example, "Lack of a right of access to and from the Land." under ACCX01).

These suggested ALTA Loan Policy Standard Exceptions are not designed for use in commercial transactions or for use on Owner's Policies; however, title companies and customers may use these Exceptions, if applicable, in those transactions.
